Exhibitors who have not completed the application, please scan the QR code on-site, log in to the system with your Exhibitor Center username and password to enter personnel information and apply for exhibitor badges online.
If you have forgotten the Exhibitor Center username and password, you can collect your account information at the service counter in the South Entrance Hall 1.
- Exhibitors please proceed to the exhibitor registration counter in the south entrance hall of the venue with your booth number to collect your exhibition materials. The person collecting the materials needs to bring two business cards.
- Exhibitors should strictly review and manage the content displayed on their booth's LED and electronic screens, ensuring no illegal information is broadcasted on the LED screens, and LEDs must not be connected to the internet. During the exhibition, a designated person must be assigned to oversee the LED screens while they are in use, adhering to the principle of "when the screen is on, someone is present," to promptly address any emergencies. The organizer reserves the right to cut off the power supply of the booth if any illegal content is found on the screens.

4. Mainland China visitors must carry their ID cards when entering the venue. For exhibitors from overseas, Hong Kong, Macao, and Taiwan regions: proceed to the service counter (South Entrance Hall) with your passport/Hong Kong-Macao Pass/Taiwan Compatriot Permit for registration and photographing to obtain an exhibitor badge. Scan the exhibitor badge at the turnstile for entry.
5. According to the latest regulations of the Shanghai New International Expo Center, all raw space booth design plans must be approved by the exhibition hall's designated review company, Shanghai Hanhai Exhibition Consulting Co., Ltd., before proceeding with entry formalities.
6. In accordance with the requirements of relevant departments, all raw space booths must install temporary surveillance and a one-touch alarm visual intercom system to achieve second-level response and multi-level linkage requirements. Please lease the necessary equipment from the service provider by 10:00 a.m. on March 19 at the latest (see the QR code on the right).
